

CLAIMS:

- sub
A6
- 5
1. A method of screening for compounds which inhibit the proliferation of cells, the method comprising determining the ability of a putative compound to inhibit induction of Egr-1, decrease expression of Egr-1 or decrease the nuclear accumulation or activity of the Egr-1 gene product.
2. A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the method is performed in vitro.
- 10
3. A method as claimed in claim 1 or claim 2, wherein the cells are selected from the group consisting of vascular cells, smooth muscle cells, endothelial cells and neoplasia cells.
- add B'